CISAC Membership Application Guide

CISAC Secretariat

This document is designed to serve as a guide to support new applicants throughout the CISAC membership application process.

- Sections 1-3 provide general information on the membership application process to be consulted by applicant societies before proceeding to the Membership Application;
- Sections 4-5 include the application guidelines and the Membership Application Form to be completed by the applicant society and returned to the CISAC Secretariat.

1 Introduction

CISAC – the International Confederation of Societies of Authors and Composers – is the world’s leading network of authors’ societies. Founded in 1926, CISAC is a non-governmental, not-for-profit organisation with headquarters in France and regional offices in Africa, South America, Asia-Pacific and Europe. CISAC has today 232 member societies in 121 countries.

Representing over 4 million creators from all geographic areas and artistic repertoires through its membership, CISAC promotes the rights of creators worldwide, facilitates revenue collections, provides data and legal expertise and sets best practice standards for its member societies globally.

CISAC is delighted to welcome new societies to its expanding global network. The purpose of this document is to inform new applicants about the criteria for CISAC membership and guide applicant societies through the membership application process.

2 CISAC Membership Application Process

CISAC has a multi-level governance structure and this is reflected in the membership application process. Each application for new membership needs to go through several stages of review and approval, before reaching CISAC’s highest representative entity – the General Assembly.

As a first step, as required by Article 16 of CISAC’s Statutes (AG10-1275R9), any society wishing to become a CISAC member is invited to submit its completed membership application form, along with the supporting documentation, to the CISAC Secretariat. The application should be submitted within an established timeframe.

CISAC undertakes to review and assess each new membership application impartially and objectively. All applications are judged against the same established criteria.

The Secretariat will process each application and present its analysis and recommendation to the CISAC Executive Governance Committee (EGC). The EGC meets and reviews new applications in April.

The EGC will conduct a review of the Secretariat’s assessment and submit its recommendation to the Board of Directors to either admit the applicant as a Provisional or Associate member; or reject the application.

Should the EGC require further information or documentation in order to issue a recommendation to the Board of Directors, it may decide to postpone the decision regarding the society’s membership application in order to request such additional information. In this case, the applicant will receive a formal letter, stating the requirements and recommendations that need to be fulfilled before the application process can continue.

Should the EGC issue a recommendation to admit the applicant as a Provisional or Associate member or to reject the membership application, such recommendation will be forwarded to the Board of Directors for approval.

Subsequently, the General Assembly held annually in June (after considering the advice of the Board in relation to each application) shall admit the applicant as a Provisional or Associate member or reject the membership application.

After the General Assembly, the Secretariat will send formal confirmation letters to the applicant societies to inform them of the outcome of the Board of Directors discussion and the General Assembly decision concerning each membership application.
